Sam Roughead likes to call himself the Director of First Impressions. He is often the first point of contact for the Real Estate Dynamics and RED Assist line. With such an important role in our organisation, Sam's skill level and his focus on the delivery of high quality customer care is vital.

Sam takes pride in achieving his goal of consistently providing friendly, helpful and efficient responses to ensure our valued Clients and Customers are quickly in contact with the right team member who can best assist their needs. He brings a wealth of skills and experience gained from previous roles, including working with Wotif.

Sam only works part time at Real Estate Dynamics, the rest of the time he is hard at work studying for his Bachelor of Environmental Management. Sam is passionate about the environment and wildlife conservation, and believes our planet is a beautiful but delicate resource. He spent several weeks at James Cook University in Townsville at a Seaweed and Algae farm, experimenting with new techniques for aqua farming.

When Sam isn't saving the planet, he's travelling it. With both his parents and sister living overseas, the Roughead's must all have been bitten by the travel bug. Sam has travelled solo for 6 months through Europe, watched Snow Monkeys play during his one month trip through Japan, and visited his parents in the Jazz centre of the world, New Orleans.

If Sam isn't studying, travelling or saving the world, you'll find him in front of the goggle-box. He is a massive sports fan, and religiously follows the Ruby Union, League and Cricket. He hopes to one day see Cronulla win a premiership before he dies. He is also a huge Quentin Tarantino fan.

Sam looks forward to welcoming you to Real Estate Dynamics whenever you contact us.
